

I am widowed over five years now. I appreciate the "no call" policy that the State Of Indiana has initiated. We used to receive calls viturally every night asking for my husband, who is deceased. I found this objectionable and offensive as well as intrusive. I do pay for caller ID to try to screen some of these annoying calls. But, still received quite a few. I think it is a violation of my privacy. I am very philanthropic but choose to donate to charitable agencies because of other reasons not because they call me on the phone. AND of course I object to companies phoning me to view a time share in the Bahamas, or purchase additional insurance. Please uphold this law. What about my rights?
Thank you. Lori Olivier
